PERSONS REPRESENTED.

a noble Athenian. Lucius, [1] LUCULLUS, I Lords, and Flatterers of Timon, SEMPKONIUS, j VENTIBHUS, one of Timon's false Friends. APEMANTUS, a churlish Philosopher. ALCIBIADES* an Athenian General. FLAVIUS, Steward to Timon. FLAMINIUS, ~| LUCILIUS, i-Timon's Servants. SEKTILHTS, J CAPHIS, PHII.QTUS, -Servants to Timon's Creditors.

Two Servants of Varro, and the Servant of Isidore; two of Timon's Creditors. Cupid and Maskers. Three Strangers. Poet, Painter, Jeweller, and Merchant. An old Athenian. A Page. A FooL

Mistresses to

Other Lords, Senators, Officers, Soldiers, Thieves, and Attendants.

SCENE, Athens ; and the Woods adjoining.

[1] Phrynia,] (Or as this name should have been written by Shakspeare, Phryne,) was an Athenian courtezan so exquisitely beautiful, that when her judges were proceeding to condemn her for numerous and enormous offences, a sight of her bosom (which, as we learn from Quintillian, had been artfully denuded by her advocate,,) disarmed the court of its severity, and secured her life from the sentence of the law. STEEVENS.